

Health Safety and the Environment

Health Safety and the Environment is one of the primary concerns faced by private companies and Government within the Middle East. Pressure is mounting from Ministerial Departments to effectively control accidents and environmental damage caused by industry and the commercial sector.

At Standby Consulting, we assist our clients to develop procedures and strategies to mitigate the following potential risks:

- Physical and psychological harm to employees
- Financially to the company from imposed fines
- Possible imprisonment of managerial staff due to negligence
- Loss of production due to closure of the premises for investigation purposes
- Loss of goodwill and trust in the company by the public.

Standby can help by

- Undertaking a gap analysis of current risk management system and procedures
- Developing an action plan to address identified areas of concern
- Identifying risks using international best practice methodology
- Implementing effective risk control measures that best suit the client and relevant compliance and legal requirements
- Implementation of effective tools to monitor and review improvements to HSE
- Providing training workshops for company HSE representatives.

Benefits of using Standby

- ✓ We offer our clients a proven personal and professional service that gets results
- ✓ We can design and offer a solution that meets individual needs and implementation timelines

- ✓ We understand and support clients to meet the requirements of the 14 elements of the Health & Safety Regulations
- ✓ Our consultants have been involved in projects with many large companies and Government Ministries throughout the Middle East, including power and water suppliers, petroleum companies and Ministerial departments
- ✓ We have strong partnerships within industry; although we do not have affiliations to any service or product provider our knowledge in this field allows us to recommend skilled and knowledgeable companies for our clients.
- ✓ Our 3 day health and safety workshops train your employees to be effective HSE representatives, able to identify, assess and implement a treatment option best suited to your companies needs.

Standby consultants are subject matter experts with memberships to professional industry bodies. They have vast experience in their fields of expertise developed through years of experience both overseas and the Middle East.

An effective Health and safety policy is demonstrated by uninterrupted work productivity, employee wellbeing and the continued valued reputation of company products and services.

Want to know more?

Please contact us.